Kentucky Wesleyan receives $1 million grant

Kentucky Wesleyan received a grant of $1,000,000 from the James Graham Brown Foundation in Louisville to enhance the James Graham Brown Scholarship Endowment Fund at the college.

President Anne Cairns Federlein said, “For 29 years the scholarship program has helped Kentucky Wesleyan College recruit and retain many of the very best and brightest students. The Brown Scholar graduates have distinguished themselves in a variety of professional careers. This gift supports our commitment to increasing the academic quality of future students.”

Enrollment is up!

For the first time in 21 years, Kentucky Wesleyan experienced a double figure percentage increase in its fall enrollment. The 10.5 percent increase includes 639 full-time and 36 part-time for a total of 675 students this fall compared to 611 students (571 full-time and 40 part-time) from the fall of 2003.

The 2004 fall enrollment figures also include the largest class of new students (269) since 1997 and the largest freshman class (211) since 1983. Kentucky Wesleyan students come from 22 states and eight foreign countries.

A Fitting Tribute

Bob Darrell, longtime KWC English professor and former chair of the English Department

The college PLUS Center was designated the Darrell PLUS Center at a special dedication ceremony in the Library Learning Center, new PLUS Center home. Bob Darrell was instrumental in establishing the center more than two decades ago, with the goal of linking students with other students to serve as tutors in areas of academic deficiency.

Surrounded by Darrell’s friends and colleagues, President Federlein read a tribute from Darrell’s son, Bart Darrell ’84, speaking on behalf of his siblings. “Our father had a vision of an innovative way to help students perform to their highest scholastic potential. But much more, he had a passion for helping people make their own lives better.”

Hocker makes major gift

David Hocker ’59
donated his home on Griffith Avenue in Owensboro to Kentucky Wesleyan College. Jagoe Homes purchased the property from KWC with plans to build a seven-home subdivision on the property. President Anne Cairns Federlein said, “We are so pleased to receive this gift and we appreciate Mr. Hocker’s support.”

The net proceeds from the sale of the property will go toward the renovation of campus residence halls. A long-time supporter of Kentucky Wesleyan, Hocker has served on the board of trustees since 1975, including a 12-year tenure as chairman.

Four new academic programs

Kentucky Wesleyan will add new academic majors in music industry, music performance and music education starting with the fall 2005 semester. A new minor in Christian Ministries will also be available. “The music major will capitalize on Kentucky Wesleyan’s rich tradition in voice and keyboard and will work closely with the new marching band program,” according to Academic Dean Mike Fagan.

The music industry major gives musicians a practical, hands-on experience, with student internships with Owensboro Symphony Orchestra, RiverPark Center, Wax Works and Sun Lite Music. Music education provides a dual teaching certification in elementary and secondary schools in both vocal and instrumental music.

The Christian Ministries minor will prepare students to become lay leaders in their churches. Campus Minister Adam Shours ’99 will oversee the program.

KWC again rated one of the best

U.S. News and World Report has once again rated Kentucky Wesleyan as one of the top ten best educational values in the South in their annual college report. KWC is ranked as the sixth best value in the South for Southern Comprehensive Colleges and overall is ranked in the first tier of Southern Comprehensive Colleges at number 19.

In addition, Kentucky Wesleyan received distinguished recognition by The Princeton Review as one of 136 colleges named Best in the Southeast.

2004 Senior Gift

The Class of 2004 saw the importance of preserving tradition at Kentucky Wesleyan College and chose as their senior gift a Winchester Era display. The display features 13 pictures of the original buildings on the Winchester campus with a brief description of each one. Winchester was the home of Kentucky Wesleyan from 1890 to 1951. “Preserving the Past…Remembering the Winchester Campus” is appropriately displayed in the Winchester Center. We encourage you to see it on your next visit to campus.
Kentucky Wesleyan College and the Owensboro community experienced a wide variety of speakers on campus during the fall semester.

To begin the year, J. Ellsworth Kalas, dean of the Beeson Center for Biblical Preaching and Church Leadership at Asbury Theological Seminary, was the keynote speaker at Opening Convocation. Dr. Kalas received an honorary doctorate degree from the college following his address.

The annual Edward L. Beavin Lecture series featured Dr. W. Sibley Towner, professor emeritus of Biblical interpretation at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va. His topic was “The Usefulness of the Future.”

Using a musical approach to his lecture, Dr. Don E. Saliers spoke at the Finding God in College Lecture. Dr. Saliers is the William R. Cannon Distinguished Professor of Theology and Worship, Candler School of Theology, Emory University.

The psychology department presented its inaugural lecture series called “Lantern Under a Bushel.” Alma Parish and Becky Stafford delivered a personal discussion of Erik Erikson’s eight stages of psychosocial development.

“American Presidency” was the theme for this fall’s Leadership Day. Keynote speakers were Marc Landy, professor of political science and faculty chair of The Irish Institute at Boston College, and David Hawpe, editorial director and vice president of The Louisville Courier-Journal.

Dr. Howard Spiro, professor of medicine emeritus at the Yale University School of Medicine, was the guest speaker for the Ellie Magnuson Lectures in Literature and Science.

Kentucky Wesleyan welcomed the following new faculty and staff for this academic year: Evelyn Hiatt is assistant professor of biology. For the past two years, she taught part-time at KWC and supervised student research projects. She earned her master’s degree from Clemson University and her Ph.D. in biology from the University of Georgia.

Alejandro Latinez is assistant professor of Spanish and holds a master’s degree from Vanderbilt University and is completing his Ph.D. at Vandy. Originally from Peru, he specializes in 20th century Latin American literature.

Joe Moffett is assistant professor of English. He earned his master’s degree and his Ph.D. from West Virginia University where he specialized in 20th century poetry. His wife, Kelly Moffett, will teach part-time at Kentucky Wesleyan in the English Department.

Michael Peterson is assistant professor of speech and theatre. He holds an MFA in theatre from Arizona State University and a master’s degree in communications from New Mexico State. He has extensive experience teaching speech and theater.

Mark Kersting is the band director and earned his master’s degree from the University of Louisville while serving two years as a graduate assistant for the University’s marching and pep bands. He also plays with the U.S. Army Reserve Band, 100th Division, Fort Knox.

Kurt Osborne is the new financial aid director. He is a graduate of Brescia University and has his MA in secondary school counseling from Western Kentucky University. He previously worked as a teacher and senior guidance counselor at Owensboro Catholic High School.

Audrey Cannon is a new admission counselor. She graduated from Bellarmine College and is working on her master’s degree at Brescia. She was previously the women’s basketball coach graduate assistant at Brescia.

Tony Davis joined the admission staff as admission counselor in August. He is a 2003 Kentucky Wesleyan graduate and previously worked at Green River Area Development District.

Ben Littlepage is an admission counselor. A graduate of Western Kentucky University, he has his master of arts in education with a student affairs emphasis from Western. He previously worked in the office of alumni relations and annual giving at Western.

It's Your Call

In September, eighteen Kentucky Wesleyan students spent two weeks calling alumni and friends of the college to share campus news and to ask for a gift for the General Scholarship Fund, an important part of the Wesleyan Fund. The students raised pledges totaling $51,575 from 1,105 donors.

The General Scholarship Fund helps over 95 percent of the students at KWC receive scholarships and grants through academics, leadership, and extra-curricular activities. It also helps support the legacy grant, community college grant and the good neighbor grant, as well as scholarships for band, music, theatre and art.

If we missed you in September, students will be calling friends and alumni of the college again in the spring, from April 3 – 14. Please say “yes” when a student calls you.

We thank you for your continued support of our students through our Phonathon!

Class Ambassadors

General Scholarship Fund

College is a big investment and Kentucky Wesleyan believes the cost of a quality education should not be a factor in a student’s college decision. We take an active approach in making education a reality for those who want to attend.

Last year the General Scholarship Fund helped provide over $2.5 million in financial assistance to our students, over and above federal and state grants and endowed scholarships.

The General Scholarship Fund helps provide the funds necessary to support scholarships for band, music, theatre, art, academics, leadership and athletics, as well as legacy grants, community college grants and good neighbor grants.

Special 50th Reunion

The Class of ’55 will celebrate its 50th Reunion at a luncheon on Friday, May 13, and become members of the prestigious Winchester Society (our 50-Year Club) at the Society’s dinner that evening. Then, during Commencement on Saturday, May 14, they will receive their 50-year medallions as the Class of 2005 receives their diplomas.

See you in April!
Now taking nominations

Nominations are now being taken for our Alumni Board and for Alumni Awards. Each year we elect five new directors to serve on the board, and each year we select several alumni to honor. Contact the Alumni Office at 270-852-3139 with your nominations.

Future KWC alumna

Mystic 13 fraternity alumni

Mystic 13 fraternity alumni gather in Spencer Memorial Gymnasium during the annual Winchester Picnic in August: King Richeson '48, Willie Bruce '51, Beryl Franklin '48, Norman Christopher '52, Carlos Higgins '49, Pat Propst '51.

2005 Alumni Hall of Fame Inductees

The Board of Directors of the Alumni Association recently announced the selections for this year's Alumni Hall of Fame. They are:

Rte. Reverend Urban Valentine William Darlington (1893) – Bishop, The Methodist Episcopal Church South
Richard (Dick) Gallagher ’31 – Director, Pro Football Hall of Fame
Judge Ellen Bourke Ewing ’67 – First woman to sit on the Jefferson County bench
Dr. Yu Hak Hahn ’58 – Founder, President and CEO of CVI Laser Optics, Inc.
George W. Tinsley Sr. ’69 – All-American, NCAA champion, professional basketball player and successful businessman
W. Terry Woodward ’62 – President and owner, Wax Works, Inc.

Make plans to be a part of this year’s Alumni Dinner on Saturday, April 30, to help celebrate the induction of the second class of these Alumni Hall of Fame honorees. The Association’s regular alumni awards will also be presented at the dinner.
And now, Diane Earle has been invited to give a solo performance at Carnegie Hall, one of the premier concert halls in the world. March 21, 2005. Mark that date!

She will play compositions by Dr. John Steffa, a Murray State University music professor. Her solo performance will include Steffa’s “Tangents” and “Three Pieces for Piano.” She will also play a suite for viola and piano on the same program with a viola player from MSU.

“I am absolutely thrilled about this incredible and very rare opportunity,” said Earle. “Carnegie Hall is one of the most important musical meccas in the world, and the thought of playing in those hallowed halls is awe-inspiring and a musician’s dream.”

It seems a natural progression for the talented Earle. From the moment her parents purchased a piano and she began lessons at the age of six, her passion continues to be playing and teaching music.

While attending college at the University of Cincinnati’s College-Conservatory of Music (bachelor of music magna cum laude, Ohio State University (master of music and doctor of musical arts degrees in piano performance and literature) and the Eastman School of Music (additional doctoral study), Earle not only studied piano, but also voice, organ, harpsichord, accompanying and chamber music.

According to Beth Roop Stovall ’84, Earle’s former student and current director of KW Singers, Earle’s willingness to expand beyond playing and teaching enables her to be a “fabulous and talented accompanist.” Stovall said Earle’s foundation gives her the knowledge needed to ascertain a soloist or choir’s requirements and to adapt as needed to create the best overall performance.

In spite of over 3,500 musical performances, Earle continues to seek professional development through private study. Even with her talent and experience, she practices her craft an average of five hours daily in order to maintain her skill level.

Whether Earle is performing or teaching a first time piano student like KWC junior Lauren Mayhew, her lively personality extends to everyone around her. Mayhew said, “She’s always encouraging...bright and cheerful and that really puts me at ease."

KWC Professor of Art Bill Kolok said, “Her work is temporal, and she works harder in the process of creation. She gets the applause and needs the audience.”

Earle’s involvement in the community ranges from a soloist, musical collaborator and presenter with the Owensboro Symphony Orchestra (OSO) to the creation of the “Go for Baroque” public education program sponsored by the Kentucky Arts Council. The program enhances the learning process of students in the city, county and Catholic school systems. Earle also instructs the “Arts in the A.M.” educational program at the RiverPark Center.

Maestro Nicholas Palmer, music director and conductor of the OSO, said, “Diane’s experience makes her easy to work with in the process of conducting. KWC is fortunate to have a wonderful piano teacher, music teacher and staff member as talented as Diane.” He continued, “When teaching children, Diane makes music fun…and really engages the students.”

In addition she records CDs, teaches 25 community students, serves as director of the 150-voice Owensboro Civic Chorus and serves as an organist at Third Baptist Church. Earle’s community participation gives her the opportunity to recruit for KWC, plus “I feel very needed in the community, which is why I stay here,” said Earle.

While Kentucky Wesleyan reflects upon Earle’s 21 years at the college, her colleagues say her achievements reflect her intelligence, her work beyond the call of duty, her ease of teaching students of all ages and her great sense of humor.

Earle loves her role as a musical ambassador and “wants people to experience the joy of music.”

But first there’s Carnegie Hall. Earle is preparing for the performance of a lifetime and we at Kentucky Wesleyan applaud her success. Join us on March 21, 2005, at 8:00 p.m. ET in New York City in the Weill Recital Hall in Carnegie Hall as we celebrate the talent and extraordinary accomplishments of Dr. Diane Earle. Mark that date!

KWC will host a reception honoring Dr. Earle in the Weill Recital Hall Lounge following the performance. For more information, email jevans@kwc.edu. Ticket information for the performance can be found at www.carnegiehall.org.
It would seem there is an inherent love of Kentucky Wesleyan College in some families and that is certainly reflected in 22 of the newest ‘legacy’ students on campus.

Freshman Ashley Theissen continued in the tradition set by her mother, Sue Ward Theissen ’78, and three of her mother’s siblings, Scott Ward ’74, Paul “Denny” Ward ’77 and Nancy Ward Castlen ’80.

“Mom didn’t push me to come to Kentucky Wesleyan. My aunts and uncles tried to convince me more than she did,” Ashley said. “I grew up in the greater Cincinnati area and I’ve been visiting Owensboro once a month since I was a baby,” she continued. “My cousin told me to take a tour of KWC and I really liked it.” Plus the college offered her a great scholarship – Theissen is a Brown Scholar.

She said, “In the beginning of my search, I didn’t appreciate something I was always used to. Kentucky Wesleyan is now a home away from home.” Theissen lives on campus in Peeples Hall.

She has a double major – history and art – and wants to go to law school. “I might want to go into politics or international law and travel and see the world. But sometimes I just want to be an artist – so I go back and forth.”

Like Ashley, freshman Cortney Snyder is a long way from home, but lives with her great uncle, John Snyder ’59. She also has a great aunt nearby, Martha Snyder ’68.

“I was born and raised in Las Vegas, so Owensboro was a big culture shock. It’s greener here and there are furry woodland creatures, and red leaves. In Las Vegas it’s hot, hot and a little less hot, so I don’t own a coat, I’ve never seen snow, bugs are a new thing, and washing cars in the driveway is legal,” Snyder said.

“In the fourth grade I decided to be an orthodontist and in the seventh grade I decided to come to KWC,” Snyder explained. “My grandparents, Anna and Horace Snyder ’60, brought me to Kentucky Wesleyan and said, ‘This is where we met.’”

Snyder said, “At Kentucky Wesleyan, I’m not another number – everyone wants to help. It’s quite welcoming.” Snyder also plays softball. Although her grandparents are now deceased, she thinks they approve of her college choice.

Ian Miller is a freshman from Shelbyville, Ind. His father, Rick Miller ’82, is a Methodist minister and the family moved seven times in 18 years.

“My father had been telling me to come here since I was four-years old, but I wasn’t sure if I wanted to come until my sophomore year and I moved from a high school of 500 to one with 2,500. I decided I didn’t want to go to a state school with 20,000 students,” Miller said.

“The biggest challenge is having to do everything yourself and I’m running out of clean clothes,” Miller continued. “I haven’t declared a major yet, but I’m a work study student for the academic dean. I live in Deacon, pledged Sigma Alpha Mu and I love it.”

Although this is her first year at Kentucky Wesleyan, Rachel Vanderford, also known as “Rocky,” is not a traditional student. She attended Lexington Community College right out of high school, worked two years and then attended Paducah Community College.

She started looking at Kentucky Wesleyan last fall she said, “after swearing I would never come here because of my sisters, Heather Vanderford Matics ’92 and Maribeth Vanderford ’96. But I figured I had waited long enough. It has worked to my advantage because the professors are taking good care of me.”

She didn’t get a lot of pressure from her sisters. “They encouraged me and they were excited about me attending,” she said.

“It was a big adjustment. I was a commuter student with no social life in Paducah. Now I live in Peeples Hall and we have a close network of friends. I enjoy my classes and I’m learning a lot,” Vanderford continued.

She has a double major, English with an emphasis on creative writing, and fine arts with an emphasis on theatre. “My goal is to get an MFA and teach college students,” she said.

And the Vanderford legacy lives on….Rachel has a 16-year-old brother, Jonathan, who wants to come to Kentucky Wesleyan. It must be a family tradition!

Three Panthers earn All-Tournament Team honors

Megan Lucket, a freshman from Louisville, Ky., was named to the all-tournament team at the Illinois College Volleyball Invitational.

Mary Mattingly, a sophomore from Harned, Ky., earned all-tournament team recognition for her fifth-place finish at the Transylvania University Golf Invitational.

Matt Yaeger, a senior from Owensboro, received all-tournament team recognition for his fourth-place finish at the Centre College Golf Invitational.

Hodges and Saalwaechter chosen for GLVC Student-Athlete Advisory Committee

Teresa Hodges and Adam Saalwaechter were elected to the Great Lakes Valley Conference Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. Hodges, a sophomore from Benton, Mo., plays first base and pitches for the softball team. Saalwaechter, a junior from Owensboro, plays first base for the baseball team. Students who are elected to the GLVC SAAC represent their institution at biannual conferences and decide on community service activities for their athletic department.

Pulliam returns as men’s soccer coach

Scott Pulliam, who served as KWC’s head men’s soccer coach for two seasons (2000 and 2001) has returned as the Panthers head coach once again. Larry Simpson, an assistant soccer coach for the men’s and women’s at Brescia University last season, will join Pulliam as his top assistant coach.

Five football Panthers honored by Mid-South Conference

Three Panthers were named to the All-Mid-South Conference football team as voted on by league coaches and two earned MSC All-Academic honors. Selected to the first team was Alex Long, a senior linebacker from Cincinnati, Ohio. Alex Temple, a freshman defensive end from Crestwood, Ky., received second team recognition. Keith Cottoner was chosen to the honorable mention squad. Panthers named to the all-academic team were sophomore defensive lineman Kyle Aebersold from Louisville, Ky., and senior quarterback Ben Arnold from Ste. Genevieve, Mo. Both were recognized for their classroom achievement with a career 3.2 grade point average or higher. Kentucky Wesleyan, under second-year head coach Brent Holtsclaw, completed the 2004 season with a 4-7 record and finished tied for seventh in the Mid-South Conference with a 4-6 record. This was the Panthers first season back in the Mid-South Conference since 1989 and their first competing in the NAIA.

Panthers wins Transylvania Invitational

Kentucky Wesleyan won the eight-team Transylvania Invitational in September by a four-stroke margin (623) over runner-up Campbellsville (627). The Panthers earned their first tournament championship since 1996.

Cottoner earns national and conference honors

Keith Cottoner, a junior linebacker from Madisonville, Ky., received NAIA National and Mid-South Conference Defensive Player of the Week honors for his performance in the Panthers 28-24 upset win over No. 21 Campbellsville.

Kentucky Wesleyan College Honor Roll Societies

The rich heritage of Kentucky Wesleyan College is reflected through its honor societies. These societies recognize the gifts of individuals, whether alumni or other friends, to the college during the fiscal year 2003-04.

Founder Society ($25,000 and above) honors the founding of Kentucky Wesleyan in 1858 when the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church-South resolved to found a college, creating a tradition of excellence in higher education which continues today.

Trustee Associates Society ($10,000 to $24,999) honors the trustees of the college who through the years have committed themselves to the academic, financial and social welfare of Kentucky Wesleyan College. Appointed in 1858, The Reverend William Creighton Dandy served as the first board chair.

Faculty Associates Society ($5,000 to $9,999) honors the prestigious faculty of Kentucky Wesleyan College, who through their loyalty to the college and dedication to their profession, enhance the liberal arts experience for our future leaders.

President’s Associates Society ($1,000 to $4,999) honors the 30 presidents of Kentucky Wesleyan who have contributed to its growth and development. Appointed in 1866, The Reverend Charles Taylor was the first president. Current president Anne Cairns Federlein, Ph.D. began her service to the college with the opening of the 2004-2005 academic year. Membership in the society is an investment in future leaders.

Winchester Society ($500 to $999) honors the community and alumni of Winchester, Kentucky, the second location of the college from 1890 to 1951. The 60-year Winchester years nurtured the college during World War I and the Depression eras, and continues to do so through the support of Kentucky Wesleyan alumni and friends from that period.

Millersburg Society ($250 to $499) honors the first home of Kentucky Wesleyan until 1890. Millersburg, Kentucky, saw the founding of the college in 1858 and its first graduation, a class of one, in 1868.

Minerva Society ($100 to $249) honors the spirit of giving, symbolized by Minerva – the decorative sculpture from the Administration Building on the Winchester campus. This building, destroyed by a fire in 1905, was rebuilt by generous donations from residents and friends. Today, Minerva resides on the current campus reminding us of this generosity.

Note: Beginning in FY2005 (July 1, 2004 to June 30, 2005) a new society will be added. The President’s Associates Society will honor those giving at the $2,500 to $4,999 level and a new society, the Owensboro Society, will honor the $1,000 to $2,499 gifts. The Owensboro Society honors the community and alumni of the Owensboro, Kentucky, campus. In 1951 Owensboro became the third and current location of the college.
