This issue of KW Today records a special weekend of celebration at KWC. We honored our 150th anniversary with great football, fireworks, music and most of all, the renewal of cherished friendships.

It was a special time for all of us to reflect on the past and share our memories with others. What fun it was to hear great stories from our alumni. There was a common thread in every memory—the impact Kentucky Wesleyan has made on countless lives through the years. As a now retired alumnus shared with me, “I was the first person in my family to attend college. My KWC degree opened up a world to me I could never have experienced otherwise. I’m so grateful.”

I share the same feelings, and I am humbled by the opportunity to serve as the thirty-second president of my alma mater. As I spoke at the inauguration, I looked over the audience and saw family members from six states, faculty who taught me here and a lifetime of friends. I was very moved by everyone’s presence, prayers and support.

The inauguration was even more special with the attendance of many of our students. They are the only reason we exist. Please join me as we seek innovative ways to maximize their college experience and help prepare them for a bright future. I want to hear from you. Check out our new blog at www.kwcblog.net, and share your ideas by clicking on kwebbigideas. Or you can email bhoak@kwc.edu or send me a letter with your suggestions. I value your opinion.

The spirit of Kentucky Wesleyan is many things—great traditions, the friendships of our alumni, and most of all, a commitment to our students. Thank you for sharing in our past and joining us as we prepare for the future with determination, discipline and excitement.

Regards,

Dr. Cheryl D. King
President
Kirk Purdom became vice president for advancement on July 1. He is a graduate of Owensboro High School and the University of Mississippi. He was director of development at Middle Tennessee State University. His father, Dr. Ray Purdom, was a long-time professor of physics and academic dean at KWC, where he also served for one year as interim president. “This campus was my playground as a child,” said Purdom. “I ran up and down the halls of the Administration Building and now my office is here. Wesleyan has always had a special place in my heart.”
Class Ambassadors’ Workshop

Phonathon Success

The 2008 Fall Phonathon was interrupted briefly by Hurricane Ike when most of Kentucky and several other states experienced power outages for several days. However, our 14 student callers raised $52,010 in pledges from 847 donors for the Wesleyan General Scholarship Fund. While calling alumni and friends of the college, students also updated personal information and encouraged everyone to attend the 150th Celebration Weekend.

If you missed your Phonathon call, you can make a gift online today at our secure website, www.kwc.edu, or drop your check in the mail! Our address is:

Former President Clinton Visits KWC

The KWC community had the rare opportunity to meet a former president on May 16 when President Bill Clinton visited the campus. He spoke to a crowd of over 1,000 in the Jones Gymnasium at the Woodward Health and Recreation Center.

KWC Students Fight the Yawn for St. Jude

KWC students filled the Jones Gymnasium on November 20 to kick off the college’s first Up ’Til Dawn event. Up ’Til Dawn is a student-led, student-run philanthropic program hosted by colleges and universities nationwide to raise awareness and support for St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital. “Fight the yawn, stay awake to cure childhood cancer” is the motto of the fundraising effort. Students sent almost 4,000 letters to family and friends asking for donations, and they will host an all-night Finale event on March 13 in honor of patients of St. Jude who bravely fight cancer. At dawn, they will find out how much they have raised to advance the mission of finding cures and saving children. Please contact Assistant Dean of Student Life Megan Bradstreet at 270-852-3287 or mbradstreet@kwc.edu for more information about Up ’Til Dawn or to make a donation.
KWC Welcomes Class of 2012

Alumni Roy Clark ’46, Harold Dorsey ’38 and Beryl Franklin ’48 serenade the Class of 2012 with the “Sweetheart” song. The incoming freshman class traveled to the Winchester campus on their first college weekend in August. They toured the former campus and met Winchester Era alumni during the annual picnic at the former Spencer Gymnasium.

Earle Performs Nine Concerts in China

Dr. Diane Earle performed, taught several classes, master classes and lessons during a 16-day performance tour to China in May and June. Cities included Beijing, Wuxi, Shanghai, Nanning and Hong Kong. This photo was taken following Earle’s performance at the GuangXi Music Institute of the Arts in GuangXi, Nanning.
Dr. James Welch Visits China and Spain

Dr. James Welch visited universities in China in May and attended the 2008 Conference of the International Assembly for College Business Education in Barcelona, Spain. The IACBE is the premier professional accreditor for business programs in student-centered colleges and universities throughout the world. Welch is president of the Great Lakes Region of the IACBE.

Dr. Paula Dehn is New Vice President of Academic Affairs

Dr. Paula Dehn joined KWC in July. She was professor and chair of biology at Canisius College in Buffalo, New York, where she had served on the faculty since 1989. She earned her B.A. with honors and her M.A. from DePauw University and her Ph.D. from the University of South Florida. Dehn’s experience includes extensive research in various areas, including alternative methods in toxicology. Her programmatic accomplishments at Canisius included significant faculty and curriculum development and laboratory and facilities enhancements.

Hurricane Ike Cleanup

Students gathered to clean up the campus following Hurricane Ike’s visit on September 14. Wind gusts reached 73 mph in Owensboro, the highest recorded in the tri-state during the storm. Fortunately, there were no injuries and only minor damage at KWC.

2008 Oak and Ivy Inductees

New members of the Order of Oak and Ivy were congratulated by Interim President Michael Fagan at the annual banquet, a Wesleyan tradition since 1955.

The Corinthian columns at Hocker-Hall Grove provided a tradition-rich backdrop to commencement as the 147-member Class of 2008 received their diplomas on a sunny May day. The Honorable John D. Minton, Jr., Justice of the Supreme Court of Kentucky, addressed the class and paid tribute to their legacy of community service at KWC. He challenged them as “Doers in a DotNet Generation” to continue their commitment to others as they leave the campus. Justice Minton is an active United Methodist layperson from Bowling Green. The Supreme Court justices elected Minton Chief Justice of Kentucky two days after commencement.

Interim President Michael Fagan and Associate Dean James Welch recognized Marjorie Fields Richmond ’28, the oldest living alumna of the college, and the Reverend Doctor Harold Dorsey ’38, on the eightieth and seventieth anniversaries of their graduations from KWC. Incoming President Cheryl King ’70 offered her congratulations to the graduates with these words, “Our graduation dates are years apart, but we have something in common; our roots at KWC. My Kentucky Wesleyan degree has served me well. I know yours will, too.”

The graduation ceremony was the 140th commencement since the college’s founding in Millersburg in 1858. Classes began after the Civil War in 1866, and the first commencement ceremony in 1868 honored a graduating class of one. The ringing of the bell from the Millersburg campus administration building recognizes the early years on that campus. The campus moved to Winchester in 1890 and to Owensboro in 1951. The columns overlooking the graduation site were originally a part of the administration building at Winchester.
Kentucky Wesleyan College began a weekend of celebration with the inauguration of Dr. Cheryl D. King ’70 as the college’s thirty-second president on September 26. State Auditor Crit Luellen and Kentucky Speaker of the House Jody Richards ’60 brought greetings from Frankfort. The new bishop of the Kentucky Conference of the United Methodist Church, Lindsey Davis, led the Litany of Consecration and Commitment.

President King’s inaugural address included these words: “Our charge from today forward is to build on the past, to serve as good stewards of the present and pave the way to a bright future. The Presidents who preceded me met the challenges of the time, and so will I. They took Kentucky Wesleyan to a higher level. With your help, support and prayers, I will, too.”

Dr. King has been involved in education at all levels her entire professional career, including preschool, middle school and postsecondary and adult education. Following her appointment as Commissioner of Kentucky Adult Education in 1996, she also served as Deputy Secretary for the Kentucky Cabinet for Workforce Development. She helped write the adult education legislation, The Adult Education Act of 2000. This legislation is a national model and placed Kentucky Adult Education within the Council of Postsecondary Education. It resulted in more than doubling enrollment in adult education across the state with a significant increase in the state appropriation.

She was study director of the National Commission on Adult Literacy from 2006-2008. The independent, blue ribbon panel comprised of national leaders and experts representing business, education and government issued a national report, “Reach Higher, America: Overcoming Crisis in the U.S. Workforce,” in Washington, D.C. in June 2008.

Dr. King began her presidency at Kentucky Wesleyan College on July 1, 2008. She also served on the College Board of Trustees for many years and was the executive vice president of external relations at the college in 2006.

She serves on the Board of Trustees of the Global Board of Higher Education & Ministry of the United Methodist Church, the Owensboro Economic Development Board, the RiverPark Board and the Owensboro-Daviess County Community Foundation. She is a member of Settle Memorial United Methodist Church and the Owensboro Rotary Club.

New Alumni Board Members

Adam Flowers ’05, an employee at Greenwell-Chisholm Printing Company in Owensboro, earned a bachelor degree in communications arts. He has a masters in sports administration from Western Kentucky University. Flowers, a third-year football coach for Owensboro Catholic High School, is a member of the Chamber of Young Professionals and Kiwanis Club. He remembers the “life lessons” as well as academic studies with Pam Gray and calls her “my academic advisor/professor/boss and mom away from home.”

Adam Lister ’06 majored in political science. He is an economic development specialist at the Green River Area Development District in Owensboro. Lister is a board director on the Owensboro Area World Affairs Council and is on the executive board for the Daviess County Republican Party. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, the Stanley Reed Pre-Law and Politics Society and the Young Republicans at KWC. He was also an admissions ambassador and an Oak and Ivy nominee. Lister looks forward to supporting the college’s continued growth in his new role.

Corey NaLampoon ’04 became a government account executive for GSI Office Environments in March 2008. The move follows a series of promotions in the contract furniture industry with Krueger International. This is NaLampoon’s second term on the alumni board. He shares that many of his great memories of the college involve football practice and games. Some of his most humorous memories include times with Pam Gray and calls her “my academic advisor/professor/boss and mom away from home.”

Jill Suwanski ’99 is a graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Law. She spent five years with a Cincinnati law firm and now practices franchise law at Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell and Berkowitz in Nashville. While at KWC, she was a Brown Scholar and a member of Kappa Delta Sorority. She belongs to the Order of Oak and Ivy. Suwanski says the college can “continue the pattern of growth and attract top talent from around the state and country with the support KWC alumni.”

Kelly Nelson Rowe ’01 earned a masters of education from Indiana Wesleyan University and teaches fourth grade at Seton Catholic School in Lexington. While at KWC, Rowe was president of the student body and the student representative to the Board of Trustees. She was Homecoming Queen, Rose of the Old South and was an active member of the Leadership Council, KEA-SP, Student Activities Programming Board and Wesleyan Players. She belongs to the Order of Oak and Ivy. She fondly remembers speaking at the groundbreaking of the Winchester Center. Rowe and her husband, whom she met at KWC, have two daughters, Kacy Elizabeth, age 3, and Abigail Rezin, 9 months.

Frankie D. Scott Hager ’57, the oldest of 12 children, came to Owensboro from Louisville as a KWC freshman in 1953. She was appointed to the Kentucky Wesleyan Board of Trustees in 1972 and was board secretary in 1975 when she resigned to earn her law degree at Salmon P. Chase School of Law. After private practice as an attorney, Hager was Owensboro’s second female attorney from 1980 to 1987. She served again on the KWC Board of Trustees from 1991 to 2006.

Hager is secretary and treasurer of the Lawrence and Augusta Hager Educational Foundation, Inc., which she and her husband established in 1989 to help disadvantaged children and families. She is a member of Wesleyan Heights United Methodist Church. She has served the local church and conference in numerous leadership roles, including appointments to the Board of Pensions and the Board of Church and Society at the conference level.

Community involvement is a hallmark of her life with emphasis on the needs of children and the arts. She has served on many boards, and is the former president of the Kentucky Municipal Attorneys Association and the League of Women Voters. KWC honored Hager with the Outstanding Alumni Award in 1995 and an honorary doctorate in 2002.

Hager and her husband, Lawrence W. Hager, Jr., are the parents of three adult children, Lawrence III, Vanessa and Hope, and the grandparents of several grandchildren.

Adam Potter ’98 is serving is his second term as a board director. He is the minister of intentional discipleship at State Street United Methodist Church in Bowling Green, where he is also involved in the music program. Potter has a long list of favorite KWC memories, and the New York trip is at the top. Other favorites include Wes Bartlett and the Wesleyan Players, Madrigal Dinners where he was folder partner with Dr. Poling, his Sigma Nu fraternity brothers and baseball with Coach Denny Potts. Potter says he was the last official graduate of the theatre department before it became an emphasis under communication arts.
K. Wayne Foster ’69 received the Outstanding Alumni Award, which recognizes sustained significant support to the college, the church and/or the community. Foster used the computer skills he learned in the Air Force to start his first company, The Systems Specialist, in 1977. His latest success story is American Patriot Getaways, a vacation business headquartered in Owensboro. Foster is immediate past president of the Kentucky Wesleyan Board of Trustees. Under his leadership, there were significant campus improvements including the Massie Hall renovation and the football stadium construction.

Catherine Eblen Sherrard ’95 was the first recipient of the Outstanding Young Alumni Award. This award honors a graduate from the last fifteen years whose professional or personal achievements and leadership reflect well on the college and inspire the college community. Sherrard is director of academic affairs at Ivy Tech College in Sellersburg, Indiana. She was director of admissions and assistant dean of student life at Kentucky Wesleyan. She is active in the Down Syndrome Association and served on the CASA board in Owensboro.

Dr. Michael Fagan Honorary Alumnus ’01 received the Gus E. Paris Distinguished Service Award, which honors a person who, like Paris, helped make the college what it is today. Paris was a long-time faculty and staff member of the college. Fagan began his career at Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1977 as a professor of psychology. He served as academic dean for ten years and as interim president earlier this year. He will return to the classroom in January. He was the founding editor of the International Journal of Mentoring and the author of the Kentucky Mentoring Survey used in over a dozen dissertations.

Anita Spurrier Newman ’71, a 20-year school principal, received the Alumni Achievement Award for her contributions to education. Under her leadership, Highland Elementary School in Owensboro consistently ranks in the top ten elementary schools in Kentucky based on academic index scores. The school is also a Kentucky Pacesetter School with a ranking in the top five percent of schools in the state since 1997. Highland is a No Child Left Behind Blue Ribbon School, one of the highest honors a school can achieve. The Highland Elementary Parent-Teacher Organization has received national recognition for its role in keeping parents engaged in the school.

K. Wayne Foster ’69 developed a love for the classroom as a child in the Owensboro public schools. After graduating from Kentucky Wesleyan College, he taught at Owensboro High School for six years, where he also helped coach basketball and baseball. He earned a master of arts in education administration from Western Kentucky University and a doctor of education in administration and supervision with an emphasis in secondary and higher education from the University of Mississippi.

After serving in various capacities in secondary and higher education, Meredith was president of Western Kentucky University from 1988 to 1997. He was chancellor of the University of Alabama System and then chancellor of the University System of Georgia with oversight of 34 universities and colleges. He became Mississippi Commissioner of Higher Education for the state’s eight public universities in 2005.

Dr. Meredith has chaired the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and currently serves as president of the National Association of System Heads.

He volunteers in many ways at the local, state and national level, including the National Roundtable Committee for Higher Education Presbyterian Church (USA).

KWC honored Meredith with an honorary doctorate in 1989. He was the first recipient of the Alumni Association’s Alumni Achievement Award in 1999.

Dr. Thomas C. Meredith ’63 developed a love for the classroom as a child in the Owensboro public schools. After graduating from Kentucky Wesleyan College, he taught at Owensboro High School for six years, where he also helped coach basketball and baseball. He earned a master of arts in education administration from Western Kentucky University and a doctor of education in administration and supervision with an emphasis in secondary and higher education from the University of Mississippi.

KWC honored Meredith with an honorary doctorate in 1989. He was the first recipient of the Alumni Association’s Alumni Achievement Award in 1999.

He and his wife, Susan, reside in Jackson, Mississippi and are the parents of two adult children, Mark and Matthew. They welcomed their first grandchild, a girl, earlier this year. The Merediths enjoy exploring Mississippi in their 1972 yellow Volkswagen convertible with their English sheepdog, Emma. “If the car is moving, Emma’s in it,” says Meredith.
Mary Brown Named Assistant Women’s Basketball Coach

Mary Brown was named assistant coach at Kentucky Wesleyan College. She spent the past two seasons at Division II Chadron State in Nebraska where she was a graduate assistant basketball coach. Prior to Chadron, Brown was a three-year starter at guard and forward for Kalamazoo College in Michigan. She was a two-time all-conference selection and finished as the twelfth leading scorer in Hornet history. She averaged 11.5 points, 6.3 rebounds, 3.8 assists and two steals in 77 games in her career.

Brown graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in English and psychology from Kalamazoo College in 2006 and a masters in sports management from Chadron State in 2008.

T. J. Smith Receives All-American Recognition

Senior guard T. J. Smith received honorable mention All-America recognition by The Sporting News in their preseason basketball publication. Smith, a 6-foot-2, 175-pounder from Gardenia, Calif., finished seventh in NCAA assists with 6.9 per game last season. He was the Panthers’ third leading scorer with 13.6 points per contest and led the squad with 72 steals in starting all 32 games.

Kentucky Wesleyan Selected No. 22 in Preseason Basketball Rankings

Kentucky Wesleyan, with three starters returning from last season’s 24-8 squad that earned a record-breaking thirty-fourth trip to the NCAA tournament, has been chosen No. 22 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches Association (NABC) in their NCAA Division II Top 25 preseason men’s poll. This marks the first time KWC has been preseason ranked since November 2004.

Fifty-nine Student-Athletes Earn Degrees

Fifty-nine KWC student-athletes in 11 sports received their bachelor degrees at the school’s 140th commencement on May 10. “It is very exciting and rewarding to know that over 40 percent of the 2008 Kentucky Wesleyan graduating class was student-athletes,” said Gary Gallup, KWC director of athletics. “This number represents the largest single year number of student-athlete graduates in memory. I believe this year’s number of graduating student-athletes is an indication that our athletic staff and coaches are committed to the importance of education for the young people in our program.”

Cory Wade Makes Pitching Debut with Los Angeles Dodgers

Former Kentucky Wesleyan right-handed pitcher Cory Wade made his big league debut for the Los Angeles Dodgers on April 24 against the Arizona Diamondbacks.

Dodger manager Joe Torre said, “Cory’s a reliever who can get loose and pitch. We just felt we needed somebody coming right now and we felt Cory was that guy.”

He helped lead the Dodgers to the National League West Division title with an 88-74 season and to the National League Division Series against Chicago Cubs.

Wade posted a 2.27 ERA as a closer for the Dodgers with a 2-1 record in 55 appearances and 71.1 innings pitched with 51 strikeouts and one save in the regular season.

The 24-year old native of Indianapolis, Ind. started for the Panthers for three seasons as a pitcher and shortstop from 2002 to 2004.

He was promoted from the Dodgers Double-A club, the Jacksonville Suns, in April. Wade was picked by the Dodgers in the tenth round of the 2004 Major League Draft.
Sixteen Kentuckians were named to the All-Great Lakes Football Conference team as voted on by league coaches, including

De'Sean Godfrey

Godfrey, a running back from Cincinnati, Ohio, also received first-team honors in leading the Panthers in rushing with 469 yards on 98 carries and two touchdowns.

Also chosen for the first team were Josh Smith and Brandon Hodnett.

Smith, a wide receiver from Louisville, finished second in tackles with 57. Steven Smith, a senior defensive lineman from Indiana, led KWC in tackles for loss with ten and grabbed 49 tackles.

Wilson, a junior defensive lineman from Columbus, led the Panthers with three sacks and had 28 tackles. Winters, a junior return specialist from Kosciusko, Miss., led KWC in kickoff return yardage with 312 on 13 returns including a school-record 95-yard touchdown return.

Four Panthers were also named to the GLFC All-Academic team. They are Richard Fangman, a junior from Louisville; Chris Owen, a sophomore from Evansville, Ind.; Ben Wilson; and Anthony Woodruff, a junior from Lexington.

To be eligible, a student-athlete must have a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.4.

Forty-one Student-Athletes Receive Academic Honors

Forty-one Kentuckians were named to the 2008 Great Lakes Valley Conference All-Academic Team.

The Panthers were led by four-time honorees

LaTasha Henry (basketball), a senior from Ashland;

Angela Petronio (soccer), a senior from Covingtn; and Emily Sean (soccer), a junior from Murray.

Three-time selections include

Kentucky Wesleyan College Giving Societies

These societies recognize persons contributing to the college from July 1, 2007, through June 30, 2008. Each society honors a different aspect of the rich heritage of Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Founders Society

$25,000 and above

Honors the founding of Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1858 when the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church – South resolved to found a college, beginning a tradition of excellence in higher education which continues today.

Trustee Associates Society

$10,000 - $24,999

Honors the trustees of the college for their commitment to the academic, financial and social welfare of Kentucky Wesleyan College. Appointed in 1958, The Reverend William Creighton Dandy served as the first chair of the board of the college.

Presidents Associates Society

$5,000 - $9,999

Honors the 32 presidents of Kentucky Wesleyan College for their contributions to the growth and development of the college. Appointed in 1866, The Reverend Charles Taylor was the first president of the college. Current president Dr. Cheryl King began her service to the college in July 2008. Membership in this society is an investment in our future leaders.

Faculty Associates Society

$2,500 to $4,999

Honors the prestigious faculty members of Kentucky Wesleyan College who, through their loyalty to the college and dedication to their profession, enhance the liberal arts experience for our future leaders.

Heritage Society

Proudly recognizes persons who include the college in their estate plans. Through this society, members express today their commitment to strengthen Kentucky Wesleyan College in the future.

Owensboro Society

$1,000 to $2,499

Honors the community and alumni of the Owensboro, Kentucky campus. In 1951 Owensboro became the third and current location of the college.

Winchester Society

$500 - $999

Honors the community and alumni of the Winchester, Kentucky campus, the second location of the college from 1890 – 1951. The 60-year Winchester period nurtured the college during World Wars I and II and the Depression era and continues to do so through the support of alumni and friends from the Winchester Era.

Millersburg Society

$250 - $499

Honors the first home of the college from its founding in 1858 through 1890. Millersburg, Kentucky was the site of the first Kentucky Wesleyan graduation, a class of one, in 1868.

Minerva Society

$100 - $249

Honors the spirit of giving symbolized by Minerva, the decorative sculpture from the Administration Building on the Winchester campus. Through the generous donations of Winchester residents and other Kentucky Wesleyan friends, the Administration Building was rapidly rebuilt after it was destroyed by fire in 1905. Today Minerva resides on the current campus in Owensboro, reminding us of this generosity.
