KENTUCKY WESLEYAN COLLEGE

2016

Dear Student:

Remarkable things are happening at Kentucky Wesleyan College. We will move into the 2016-17 school year with many exciting changes and initiatives. Upon your return to campus you will see and/or experience many new things including, but not limited to the following:

- The Center for Engaged Teaching and Learning will be open in the library and will enhance your educational opportunities and experiences on campus and in the community.
- The renovated Office of Campus Ministries is now located in the Administration Building next to Tapscott Chapel.
- The first class of the Rogers Fellows from Las Vegas join us as part of our freshmen class this year. I am excited to have them as part of the Wesleyan Family.
- You will see the new "Zimmerman Chairs" that are now part of the Wells Courtyard at the Winchester Center. These were a gift to the College from alums Richard and Nancy Zimmerman.
- We are working on unique mission exchanges with other colleges and universities as part of your commitment to helping others.
- For the first time we will have specific freshmen programming to help our newest students transition even more smoothly in to college life here at Wesleyan.
- The new Student Success Center will open in the Winchester Building across from Jazzman's Coffee Shop and will house Academic Advising, Career Services, New Student Orientation, and the First Year Experience

There are many more fantastic changes and talented new faculty and staff here to make your Wesleyan experience even better! Make sure to read details inside about them and then stop by their offices to meet all of them!

On August 26 (just a few days after you return), Wesleyan will host Friday After 5 downtown on the riverfront. There will be music, games, food, and tons of fun. You certainly need to be there showing off your Wesleyan purple and letting everyone know how connected we are to the community.

The summer has been extremely busy for us here, but that did not stop us from constantly missing each of you! As beautiful as our campus may be, it is just not the same when you aren't here. A college is not nearly as much about the buildings, trees, lawns, etc., as it is about the students....and we have the most amazing students anywhere.

Very shortly, though, we will all be back here together for what will be an incredible year. What makes us different and ties us together is, of course, that we do all things with honor; we support each other in all that we do; we compete with integrity; and we love each other in Christ. We live in and learn in "The Wesleyan Way" that results in a comprehensive education different from everyone else's. It is an education full of experiences that will give you great advantages over your competition upon your graduation. You will have developed the qualities for which the professional markets are now searching, and which the world desperately needs now. You will graduate with the ability to engage with other people, empathize with the circumstances of others, and have compassion for them. You will have developed great skills to communicate effectively, so that your voice and your vision can be heard, and you will be able to hear others. You will graduate as someone unique who will "add value" to any organization, company, firm, or entrepreneurial effort with which you become associated. That is what "The Wesleyan Way" will do for you. You will know that your life's mission and work is about even more than the personal success you will have. It will be also be about making the lives of all you touch better than they were.

So, hurry back to campus so we can get a wonderful school year started and get you moving even closer to your incredible future!

President Barton D. Darrell

Welcome Class of 2020,

Congrats on completing the first hurdle, graduating high school; but now comes the second hurdle, college. Some of you might be freaking out or will miss home. Some might think college will be no big deal; while others may be really excited. College is the next step towards what you will do for the rest of your life. That does sound scary, especially to people who don't know what they want to be yet. But, I promise, it is not as scary as you may think. College, and especially Kentucky Wesleyan, is a place to find yourself.

When I was recruited to play soccer here, I may have only said one or two words to my soccer coach. I was scared to come to college. I didn't want to leave home yet and live on campus away from my family. I was definitely not ready to be a broke college student. Now, I can't wait to go back; and I'm upset that this is my last year here at KWC. I have met some amazing people, gained more sisters than I already had, became a leader on campus, and found my voice. Kentucky Wesleyan gives you many opportunities to find yourself! However, it is up to you whether or not you take advantage of those opportunities. My advice is to attend KWC games, experience club events, take part in student activities, and join clubs, student government or a Greek organization. Just get yourself involved! The quality of your college experience is up to you! I look forward to seeing you on campus and welcome to Kentucky Wesleyan College!

Sincerely,

Phonathon 2016

Earn extra money, enjoy free food, win prizes and chat with Wesleyan alumni. Phonathon is the perfect way to do it all!

Pick up an application form in the Advancement Office (Room 109 in the Barnard-Jones Administration Building), email Blake Harrison, Director of Development and Donor Relations, at bharrison@kwc.edu.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

“The most important piece of advice about choosing a major or career follows this sentence. The advice is; ‘Don’t panic.’” --Randal S. Hansen. Ph.D.

just a few examples of how Career Development can help students explore career fields.

Career Development offers workshops to help with resumes, cover letters, interviewing, networking, business etiquette, and other soft skills to assist students in marketing themselves to graduate schools, professional programs, and employers.

The Center for Student Success strongly encourages students to:

- Find seasonal employment or internship opportunities, at least two while in college, in their chosen field which provide “relevant experience.”
- Join clubs, organizations and hold positions of leadership while in school to develop “leadership experience.”
- Volunteer and participate in service learning opportunities in the community for “community involvement.”

All of the above strengthen a student’s personal and civic profile, and provide depth and substance to their resume, which makes them more attractive to employers and professional programs.

The Center for Student Success also:

- Helps Students understand what the business and professional world seeks in a college graduate.
- Develops relationships with area employers and organizations for internships and employment.
- Posts job and internship opportunities on the Wesleyan Career Development Website.

The Service Learning portion of the center, formally established in 2012, seeks to establish and facilitate relationships with the community in order to foster experiential education, specifically service learning. These opportunities integrate meaningful community service with instruction and reflection to enhance the academic curriculum of students, teach civic responsibility, encourage lifelong civic engagement and strengthen communities for the common good.

Some students know exactly what they want to do in life, but the majority of students do not. That is okay. Many students change their major at least once (some several times) during their college careers. Stop by my new office in the Center for Student Success. I can help.

Individual career counseling, assessments for career and educational planning, and job shadowing are

A new course has been added at KWC to support new, incoming freshmen as they transition into collegiate life. This course, KW 101, will introduce students to academic expectations of the College, the importance of engagement in college-life outside the classroom, the resources that are available to assist them in completing their degrees in four years, career explorations, and the importance of a liberal arts education to achieving life goals.

As a result of completing this class, the student will:

1. Demonstrate foundational academic skills and higher level thinking skills.
2. Integrate into the college community through utilization of campus services and resources as well as interaction with key members of the campus community.
